

"Living the Inupiaq Values"
(an elective course for high school students)

Facilitated by Just Jensen

Nunamiut School
Anaktuvuk Pass, Alaska

Preparing our fish for the elders' cookout

Catching tiktaaliq in our traditional fish trap

Serving the elders at our cookout

Hosting a fish cookout for the elders

Tundra scavenger hunt with the elementary students

Sample of one of the posters we made following our cookout

Delivering bags of Eskimo donuts to the elders

Making Eskimo donuts

Learning to use a sigruk
(Coleman camp stove)

Cold water survival activities

Learning about hunting regulations from the National Park Ranger

Sample of one of the posters students made following our coldwater survival unit

Taking measurements around the village before building our wooden freight sleds

Our first sled

The first sled we made was presented to Mickey Paneak at the Thanksgiving feast.

Chopping lake ice for the elders

Elder James Nageak helping students make ulus

Cutting a caribou antler for the ulu's handle

Jordan Rulland with the ulu he made for his grandmother, Ruth Rulland.

Mailing get well letters to sick elders

Elder Johnny Rulland teaches us how to make traditional drums

Sanding the drum frame

Condolence cards and letters for elder Ethel Mekiana (following the death of her husband, Justus Usisana)

Presenting one of our finished drums to dance group leader, Raymond Paneak

De-hairing a caribou hide with museum curator, Vera Weber (Hide was later used for a

Learning the traditional art of "waterproof stitching" from elder Rhoda Ahook